LABOUR INSPECTION

TRAINING OF INSPECTORS OF LABOUR CONDITIONS ON BOARD FISHING VESSELS

5 – 23 SEPTEMBER 2022

 3 WEEKS, 5 HOURS/WEEK

CONTEXT

The fisheries sector produces one of the world's most valued sources of food, yet fishing is also one of the most challenging and hazardous occupations.

Fishers' fatality and injury rates are much higher than the national averages for workers in many countries. Globally, fishing is ranked as one of the four most dangerous occupations in which to work, in terms of loss of life, serious injuries, and occupational diseases.

Working and living conditions are also particularly challenging. Compared to those working in other sectors, many fishers are poorly protected by national labour or maritime laws and are often vulnerable to labour exploitation.

In 2007, through the adoption of the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188), governments, fishing vessels owners and fishers' organizations made it clear that decent working and living conditions on board fishing vessels shall become the rule.

The challenge for competent authorities in fishing and their inspectors is how to build (or extend) inspection services. The goal is to cover working and living conditions on board fishing vessels so that fishers have similar levels of labour protection to workers in industry, commerce and services.

Knowledgeable and well-trained inspectors are key to an effective implementation of decent work for all fishers.

CONTENT

WHAT ARE THE TOPICS COVERED BY THE COURSE?

- The international framework (inspection and enforcement challenges) and the ILO Convention No. 188 on Work in Fishing (definitions, scope of application, competent authorities);
- What is to be inspected: the key elements of decent working and living conditions on board fishing vessels (roles and responsibilities, valid documents, crew list, fisher's work agreement, manning, hours of rest, medical certificates and care, occupational safety and health, food and water, accommodation, payment of fishers, minimum age, recruitment and repatriation, complaint mechanisms);
- Tools and technics for the application and enforcement of decent living and working conditions on board fishing vessels, in law and in practice.

WHAT WILL YOU BE ABLE TO DO?

The course will enable you to:

- deepen your understanding of the international instruments regulating work in fishing;
- prepare and conduct inspection of working and living conditions on board fishing vessels;
